

The Cooking Game

Mozambican folktale
English

Once upon a time, the rabbit and the monkey were friends.

One day, in a time of famine, the rabbit invited his friend over to play.

The rabbit said: Let's play cooking each other!

The monkey asked:
How can we do that?

And the rabbit answered: We have to make a fire,

and fill a pot with water, and then put it on the fire.

I will get in first.
When I beat on the lid
of the pot, you open it.
Then I will get out.
And the monkey
agreed.

So the rabbit got in the pot first, and the water started to warm up.

The rabbit knocked, and the monkey opened the lid.

But when it was the monkey's turn, the rabbit took a big stone and put it on the lid of the pot and sat on top of it!

When the water started to boil, the monkey knocked, but the rabbit didn't open the lid.

So the monkey died,
and the rabbit ate his best friend!

The Cooking Game

Writer: Mozambican folktale

Illustration: Reginaldo Vicente Manhice

Language: English

© Mozambican Writers

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution
(CC-BY) Version 3.0 Unported Licence

Disclaimer: You are free to download, copy, translate or adapt this story and use the illustrations as long as you attribute or credit the original author/s and illustrator/s.

This story was written down in 2013
by students at Universidade Pedagógica-Maxixe, Mozambique, from their memory of what was told at home, and edited by their English teacher, Ingrid Schechter.

Saide
South African Institute for Distance Education

www.africanstorybook.org
A Saide Initiative