

The mango thieves

Ritah Katetemera
English

Long time ago, there were four little boys.

They were studying at Peto primary school.

The boys used to go to school with out taking breakfast.

They used to dose in class
because of hunger.

One day, they decided to escape from school to a nearby place and look for something to eat.

After crossing to a nearby place, they saw a bigger mango tree which was full of ripe mangoes.

The boys looked at each other and smiled. Aaaaaa we have been very hungry but....., said one little boy.

All ran to a mango tree. picked up some mangoes from the mango tree, smiled and started eating.

Do you now what they forgot to do?

While eating, the owner of the mangoes came walking in bigger strides. "Who has given you my mangoes?" asked the man.

As soon as they heard that voice, the boys ran as fast as they could and hid somewhere. they said to each other that no shouting, no coughing and no talking.

The owner of the mangoes made an alarm,
"wa a a la la la, wa a a la la la, here are the thieves.

The boys were caught, taken to school, called their parents, the teachers, and the school children to gather.

The boys were given a punishment. Each got some ten strokes and repented not to steal anything again.

The mango thieves

Writer: Ritah Katetemera

Illustration: Wiehan de Jager, Cathy Feek, Eden Daniels,
Ketan Raut, Herminder Ohri and Benjamin Mitchley

Language: English

© Ritah Katetemera

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution
(CC-BY) Version 3.0 Unported Licence

Disclaimer: You are free to download, copy, translate or adapt this story and use the illustrations as long as you attribute or credit the original author/s and illustrator/s.

Saide
South African Institute
for Distance Education

www.africanstorybook.org
A Saide Initiative